Application/Control Number: 09/783,392

Art Unit: 3636

Claim 8 has been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in Paper No. 8.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-7 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Cave or Miyamoto.

Both Cave (fig. 1) and Miyamoto (fig. 4) teach the use of providing characters, marks or patterns on a seat belt. The material of the seat belt is considered a matter of design choice, as is the type of material of the characters or marks, and the manner in which they are applied to the seat belt.

Note that in an article claim, the certain material of an element is given little patentable weight, as is the method by which a structure is made.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Gallegos, Kittel et al, and Richter show various features of the invention.
